

Biblical Prayer:

Renewing my mind

By Rev. Michael Angel

<https://SpringsofRevival.com>

Short prayer:

In the name of Jesus...

1

I have the creative power of God working in me

- to solve problems
- to bring success

2

- I cast down images of fear.
- I cast down images of failure.
- I cast down images of expecting evil

3

- I set my mind on things above.

4

I allow the Scriptures to paint new images in my mind—

- images of victory
- images of success
- images of God's promises over my life

In Jesus' name, Amen.

1. I have the creative power of God working in me..

.. a divine energy that empowers me to solve problems and bring forth success.

This power is not my own; it comes from the Almighty God who formed the heavens and the earth by His word alone (Genesis 1:1).

As His child, I am fearfully and wonderfully made (Psalm 139:14), and He has placed within me the same Spirit that raised Jesus from the dead — a Spirit of wisdom, understanding, and creativity (Romans 8:11, Isaiah 11:2).

When I face challenges, I do not rely on human reasoning alone.

Instead, I draw upon the mind of Christ (1 Corinthians 2:16) and trust that God will give me the wisdom I need to overcome every obstacle.

James reminds me that if I lack wisdom, I should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault (James 1:5).

Success, too, flows from this divine connection. The Bible says, “Unless the Lord builds the house, those who build it labor in vain” (Psalm 127:1).

Therefore, I know that any true success I experience comes not from my own strength, but from the hand of God guiding and blessing my efforts.

I stand firm in the truth that I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me (Philippians 4:13), and that includes solving complex problems and achieving victories beyond my natural abilities.

As I walk in alignment with God’s purpose, I am equipped with divine creativity, insight, and favor.

Like David, who faced Goliath with faith in God’s power (1 Samuel 17:45–50), I approach every challenge knowing that the battle belongs to the Lord, and that His power works most effectively in my weakness (2. Corinthians 12:9).

Therefore, I declare that the creative power of God is alive and active in me — transforming my thinking, guiding my hands, and bringing about solutions and successes that only He can produce.

2. I cast down images of fear. I cast down images of failure. I cast down images of expecting evil..

.. for I am seated in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, where fear has no authority and lies have no power.

The Word of God declares that perfect love casts out fear (1 John 4:18), and I am redeemed by the precious blood of Christ, who has given me a spirit not of fear, but of power, love, and self-discipline (2 Timothy 1:7).

Therefore, I refuse to entertain fearful imaginations or give place to terror in my mind.

I break every stronghold formed by imaginations that exalt themselves against the knowledge of God (2 Corinthians 10:5).

Every mental image that does not align with the truth of God's Word — every picture of defeat, disaster, or despair — I reject in the name of Jesus. I take every thought captive to obey Christ.

I renounce the spirit of fear, the spirit of failure, and the spirit of expectation of evil, knowing they are not from God.

The devil may try to send these images into my mind to discourage and deceive me, but I resist him in the mighty name of Jesus, and he must flee (James 4:7).

God has not given me a future of doom, but of hope and purpose. As Jeremiah 29:11 says, “For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.”

Therefore, I expect good, not evil; victory, not defeat; peace, not panic.

I declare war on every lie that tries to form itself into a mental image. I tear down every imagination raised against the truth of God’s Word.

I replace fear with faith, failure with favor, and expectation of evil with expectation of divine blessing.

As a child of God, I walk in the light of His presence. The enemy may shoot his fiery darts of fear and doubt, but I quench them all with the shield of faith (Ephesians 6:16).

I set my mind on things above, not on earthly fears (Colossians 3:2).

And I am transformed by the renewing of my mind (Romans 12:2), no longer allowing the enemy to project his dark images upon the screen of my thoughts.

Let every ungodly image fall now — by the power of the Blood of Jesus, by the authority of His Name, and by the fire of the Holy Spirit.

3. I set my mind on things above, not on earthly things

.. for I am seated with Christ in the heavenly realms (Colossians 3:1–2).

My true life is hidden with Christ in God (Colossians 3:3), and as I fix my eyes on Him, I am transformed from glory to glory by the power of His Spirit (2 Corinthians 3:18).

I refuse to be consumed by the worries of this world, the noise of fear, or the distractions that pull me away from divine alignment.

The Bible says, “Finally, brothers and sisters, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things” (Philippians 4:8).

Therefore, I guard my heart and mind in Christ Jesus.

I filter every thought through the lens of God's Word and reject every imagination that opposes the truth.

As I set my mind above, I begin to see as God sees. My perspective shifts.

My purpose becomes clear.

My strength is renewed. Isaiah 26:3 promises, "You will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on You, because he trusts in You." So I trust. I focus. I believe.

I no longer give room to negative thoughts, carnal reasoning, or worldly wisdom.

I am led by the Spirit of God (Romans 8:14), and my mind is brought into submission to the mind of Christ (1 Corinthians 2:16).

I reject anxiety and embrace faith, knowing that God is working all things together for my good (Romans 8:28).

Heavenly thoughts produce heavenly results.

As I meditate on the Word, dwell in worship, and walk in obedience, I open the door for divine direction, supernatural peace, and the abundant life Jesus promised (John 10:10).

Let my mind be a throne room for the presence of God.

Let every thought be a testimony of His goodness.

Let every decision reflect the wisdom that comes from above — pure, peaceable, full of mercy and good fruits (James 3:17).

4. I allow the Scriptures to paint new images in my mind..

.. images of victory, images of success, images of God's promises over my life.

I no longer permit the enemy to fill my imagination with fear, defeat, or despair.

Instead, I let the Word of God renew my mind (Romans 12:2), transforming the way I see myself, my future, and my purpose.

As the psalmist declared, “I will meditate on Your precepts and have respect to Your ways” (Psalm 119:15, NKJV).

So I choose to dwell on what is true, noble, right, pure, lovely, and admirable (Philippians 4:8).

The Bible says, “As a man thinks in his heart, so is he” (Proverbs 23:7), and I determine to think God’s thoughts after Him.

His Word is alive and active (Hebrews 4:12), and as I hide it in my heart (Psalm 119:11), it renews my vision and reshapes my destiny.

I imagine victory , because the Lord is my banner (Exodus 17:15) and He leads me in triumph always (2 Corinthians 2:14).

The battle belongs to the Lord (1 Samuel 17:47), and I walk forth in the authority of Jesus’ name, knowing that greater is He who is in me than he who is in the world (1 John 4:4).

I envision success , not defined by the world's standards, but according to God's perfect will — walking in favor, fruitfulness, and divine purpose.

Joshua and Caleb were called successful because they followed the Lord fully (Joshua 14:8–9), and I too set my heart to trust in Him who prospers my steps (Proverbs 16:9).

I believe the promise: “You shall prosper wherever you go” (Joshua 1:8).

I hold fast to God's promises over my life , for all His promises are “Yes” in Christ (2 Corinthians 1:20).

I declare Jeremiah 29:11—“For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.”

I receive Psalm 91, standing in the shadow of the Almighty, dwelling in His secret place, and walking free from terror and destruction.

Every day, I allow Scripture to overwrite every negative image.

I replace doubt with faith, fear with favor, and defeat with dominion.

The Word of God is the sword of the Spirit (Ephesians 6:17), and I wield it to destroy strongholds and tear down imaginations (2 Corinthians 10:4–5).

Let the Word of Christ dwell in me richly (Colossians 3:16), shaping my thoughts, guiding my steps, and filling my mind with visions of glory, grace, and greatness in the Kingdom of God.

In Jesus' name, Amen.
