

God operates on principals

Rev. Michael Angel

You may have been told, "Just pray harder," or "If you had more faith, God would move."

Maybe you've even believed the lie: "God is against me.

He's distant. He doesn't show up."

But here's the truth: God is not the problem.

Misunderstanding how He works—that's the problem.

You don't need more guilt. You need revelation.

Because God doesn't operate randomly, emotionally, or arbitrarily.

God operates on principles.

And when you align with His unchanging ways, you unlock the door to His power, provision, and presence.

Today, we're shifting from confusion to clarity—because once you know how God operates, you'll never doubt if He will again.

"For the Lord is righteous, He loves justice; the upright will see His face." — Psalm 11:7

"Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows." — Galatians 6:7

Introduction: The Divine Blueprint

Have you ever prayed and felt like nothing changed?
Have you given your best, yet seen no breakthrough?
Maybe you've wondered, "Why isn't God moving?"

But what if the issue isn't God's faithfulness—what if it's our understanding of how He works?

The Bible doesn't present God as a cosmic magician who randomly intervenes.

No—He is a God of order, wisdom, and principles.

From creation to redemption, from provision to healing, God operates according to spiritual laws—divine principles that never change.

Just like gravity governs the physical world, spiritual principles govern the Kingdom of God.

You don't have to guess what God will do—because His principles reveal what He always does.

Today, we're going to uncover five unchanging principles that God operates on—and how aligning with them releases His power in your life.

1. God Operates on the Principle of Seedtime and Harvest

Galatians 6:7

"Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows."

Explanation:

God established this principle at creation: "Whatever you sow, that you will also reap."

It's not just agricultural—it's spiritual, emotional, financial, and relational.

- You cannot plant anger and reap peace.
- You cannot sow laziness and reap promotion.
- You cannot scatter seeds of bitterness and harvest joy.

But the good news?

- You also cannot sow faith and reap failure.
- You cannot sow generosity and reap lack.
- You cannot sow prayer and reap silence forever.

Jesus said, "Give, and it will be given to you... for with the measure you use, it will be measured to you."
(Luke 6:38)

Illustration:

A farmer doesn't plant corn and then dig it up every day to check on it.

- He trusts the process.
- He waters.
- He waits.
- And in the right time—harvest comes.

That's how God works.

Sow your seed in faith—your time, your talent, your tithes, your prayers—and trust God's principle of harvest.

Application:

Ask yourself: What am I sowing right now?

Are you sowing love into broken relationships?

Are you sowing integrity in a compromising workplace?

Keep sowing.

God's principle of harvest guarantees a good return.

2. God Operates on the Principle of Faith

Hebrews 11:6

"And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to Him must believe that He exists and that He rewards those who earnestly seek Him."

Explanation:

Faith isn't just a feeling—it's a spiritual law.

Just as electricity flows through a conductor, God's power flows through faith.

Jesus often said, "Your faith has saved you" (Luke 7:50). Not "My power has saved you," but "Your faith." Why?

Because faith is the channel that connects us to God's ability.

God has already provided healing, deliverance, and abundance—but faith is the key that unlocks it.

Illustration:

Imagine a million-dollar account in your name, but you need a key to access it.

Without the key, the money is useless.

Faith is that key.

Application:

Don't wait for feelings. Act on God's Word.

Speak it. Believe it. Walk in it.

When you operate on the principle of faith, mountains move (Matthew 17:20).

3. God Operates on the Principle of Obedience

1 Samuel 15:22

"Does the Lord delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as much as in obeying the Lord? To obey is better than sacrifice..."

Explanation:

King Saul thought offering sacrifices would cover his disobedience.

But God said: "I value obedience over religious activity."

God's power is released through submission.

Noah built the ark—not because he saw rain, but because he obeyed.

Abraham left his country—not because he knew the destination, but because he trusted God’s command.

Obedience isn’t a burden—it’s a pathway to blessing.

When you obey, even when it doesn’t make sense, you align with God’s principle of divine enablement.

Illustration:

The walls of Jericho didn’t fall because the army was strong—they fell because the people obeyed God’s odd instruction to march and shout.

God often gives instructions that defy logic—because He wants us to trust His principles, not our understanding.

Application:

- Is God asking you to forgive someone?
- To give when you’re short?
- To step into a new season?

Obey. Not because it's easy—but because God's power flows along the tracks of obedience.

4. God Operates on the Principle of Love

1 John 4:16

"So we have come to know and to believe the love that God has for us. God is love, and whoever abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him."

Explanation:

Love isn't just an emotion—it's the foundational principle of God's nature and Kingdom.

Jesus said the two greatest commandments are about love: Love God, and love others (Matthew 22:37–39).

Everything God does flows from love.

Even His discipline is motivated by love (Hebrews 12:6).

Even the cross was the ultimate act of love (John 3:16).

And here's the key: When you operate in love, you operate in alignment with God's nature.

You can't claim God's power while living in bitterness, selfishness, or pride.

But when you forgive, serve, and lay down your rights—miracles happen.

Application:

Examine your heart.

Are you loving God with all your heart?

Are you loving people—even the difficult ones?

When you walk in love, you walk in the very current of God's power.

5. God Operates on the Principle of Worship and Praise

Psalms 22:3

"Yet You are holy, enthroned on the praises of Israel."

Explanation:

God doesn't just like worship—He dwells in it.

Praise isn't just singing songs; it's declaring God's nature in the face of circumstances.

When Paul and Silas were in prison, beaten and chained, they didn't argue with God—they praised Him (Acts 16:25).

And what happened?

- The prison shook.
- Chains broke.
- Doors opened.

Why? Because worship shifts atmospheres.

It invites God's presence.

It activates His power.

Worship is not a response to breakthrough—it's a means to breakthrough.

Application:

When the storm comes, don't just pray—worship.

Say: "God, You are good, even if I don't see it yet."

Praise Him for who He is, not just what He does.

You'll find that when you honor His nature, He releases His power.

Conclusion: Align With God's Principles, Not Just His Promises

Many people focus only on God's promises—but forget His principles.

Promises are powerful, but principles are foundational.

You can't claim the promise of provision while sowing selfishness.

You can't expect healing while living in unforgiveness.

You can't demand breakthrough while resisting obedience.

But when you align with God's principles—faith, love, obedience, worship, sowing and reaping—you position yourself in the flow of His unchanging nature.

"The righteous person flourishes like a palm tree... planted by the Lord, they thrive." — Psalm 92:12–13

You don't need to manipulate, hustle, or beg.

You just need to operate the way God operates.

Call to Action:

Identify one area of your life where you've been trying to force results instead of aligning with God's principles.

Repent of any pattern of unbelief, disobedience, or self-effort.

Commit to walk in one Kingdom principle this week—whether it's sowing a financial seed, forgiving someone, or praising God in your pain.

Closing Prayer:

Father, thank You that You are not unpredictable.

Thank You that You operate on principles we can trust.

Teach me to live not by my feelings, but by Your truth.

Help me to sow, to obey, to love, to believe, and to worship—no matter what I see.

I align my heart with Your ways.

I trust Your process.

And I receive Your power, Your provision, and Your presence.

In Jesus' name, Amen.

Final Thought:

You don't have to figure God out—just follow His principles.

When you do, you'll find He's already at work.

Because God doesn't operate randomly—He operates on principles.

And when you align with them, you step into His unstoppable flow.
